

SCMC Clubs are back and booming !

By Somalika Chhabra and Yashvi Shah

After a seemingly interminable period of online sessions and activities, now that the college is back in offline mode, the various Students' Clubs at SCMC have sprung back into action.

Once classes are over, these clubs take over the balconies and the classrooms on the 6th floor. By the end of the day, these spaces are again humming with activity.

Malang, SCMC's dance club usually takes over the 5th floor balcony with some foot tapping music and some graceful moves.

The poetry club, Oak & Ivy, has some fascinating activities in store for its members and the compositions delivered by the students are enchanting.

If you hear some cool foot-tapping Bollywood beats emanating from behind the closed doors of classroom 601, you can be sure its the theatre club, Raahi, conducting sessions for body movements and facial expressions. The 'Lit and Deb' Club's activities are more peaceful, with reading sessions of favourite literary pieces. The Art and Design Club's are even more peaceful. They have silent sessions for those who wish to draw, paint or even think!

In stark contrast, the Music Club members play instruments and sing with all the fervour at their command. The Gaming Club sessions are equally enthusiastic, despite late hours of the day, as their members indulge in 'Call of Duty' and 'Rocket League'.

And then there are specialist clubs like the Ad Club, Journo Club, PR Club, and AV Club.

While it is not possible for one to experience the activities and sessions of all the clubs, students try their best to make the most of this experience in the college.

1. MOVEMENT AND EXPRESSION : The Theatre Club gets enthusiastic participation from its members.

2. CREATIVITY : Members of the Art & Design Club holding an origami session to create birds and various other paper objects.

3. RHYME AND VERSE : The Poetry Club has recitation sessions. Members can recite their own compositions or any other poetry.

4. READING AND DISCOURSE : Book recommendations are an integral part of the Literary and Debate Club's activities.

5. RHYTHM AND MELODY : The Music Club is the loudest and likely the most fun too.

6. CHOREOGRAHED ELEGANCE : The Dance Club grooves to some cool moves on a hot summer evening on the 5th floor balcony.
